

THE POPULAR "CABARET," based on John Van Druten's "I Am a Camera," will be presented by Encore Theatre the first two weekends in December at Carbondale Area High School. Allyn Benson is director and choreographer for the large (45) member cast. Pictured, counter-clockwise are dancers Melody Anderson, Robert Anderson, Judith Ann Luzzo, Darlene Bednarzyk, Ellen Cummings, Michelle Wallace; second row, Tina Ditts, Bob Muir, Frank Catanzaro, Patty Maxum; top row, Sue Grancey, Paul Daugevelo, Alan Volz and Mary Ann Wisniewski (MIRROR Photo by Rosal).

Who's New

ANDERSON

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, 1509 Washington St., Carbondale, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Carbondale.

BADER

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bader, 243 Delaware Street, Jersey, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Carbondale.

BAKER

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Baker, 105 Westgate Drive, Carbondale, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Carbondale.

BLOOMER

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bloomer, 574 Main St., Vandling, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Carbondale.

NEBRZYDOSKI

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nebrzydoski, RD 1, Box 30, Pleasant Mount, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Carbondale.

PETERS

A daughter was born to Rev. Daniel and Janet Field Peters, 520 Madison Ave., Jermy, on Nov. 15, in Mercy Hospital.

PHILLIPS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, 80 Lackawanna Ave., Mayfield, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Carbondale.

TERPAK

A son was born to Tom and Kimberly Jean Terpak, 206 Delaware St., Jermy on Nov. 7, in Community Medical Center, Scranton.

MIDDLE-AGED LOVERS Herr Schultz (Kevin O'Hara) and Fraulein Schneider (Phoebe Coolican) prepare for a scene from "CABARET" to be presented by Encore Theatre the first two weekends in December at Carbondale Area High School. Directed and choreographed by Allyn Benson, "CABARET" takes place in pre-Hitler Germany. Benson will also play the role of the Master of Ceremonies. The 45-member cast will be accompanied by a large orchestra and chorus, with music under the direction of Ed Schulte Jr. Both O'Hara and Ms. Coolican are veterans of Coal Company Theatre productions in Carbondale, which was recently dissolved. "CABARET" is Encore's premiere production. (MIRROR photo by Rosal).

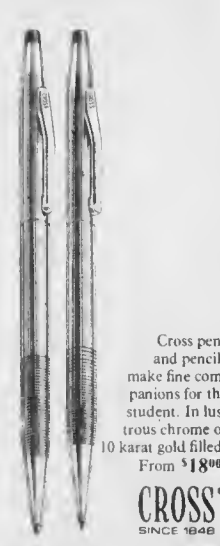

A poll which examined American's greatest fears revealed that 41% were most afraid of speaking before a group.

GARLAND
Junior Sweaters
small, medium, large
$15 reg. $17
Perfect for Christmas
ALL COLORS
Let us monogram it!
($5 extra)
Crewneck and V-neck

Roemmelmeyer's
Men's and Ladies' Wear
16 N. Main St., Carbondale

Classmates.

Andrew's Jewelers
26 N. Church St.,
Carbondale

Successful MICU fund drive was fashioned after United Way

"We fashioned the fundraising drive for the new (Mobile II) unit after the United Way drive," explained Daniel O'Rourke, chairman of the (United) Mobile II committee.

The three-month drive started on March 15 and ended on June 15 of this year, netting over $45,000 in pledges, donations, and support for an advanced life support unit stationed in Carbondale to serve upper Lackawanna County residents.

A lot of planning and hard work made the drive the success that it was.

First of all, a committee had to be picked. The Mobile II committee was picked at a February meeting of concerned citizens held at Carbondale's city hall. It consisted of Carbondale Mayor Fred J. Mancuso, honorary chairman, O'Rourke, chairman, Frank Lavin, co-chairman, Marty Langman, treasurer, and Georganna Cherdinak Cole, secretary.

Sahommittees included Rev. Richard E. Beck, churches, Edward Krantz, heavy industry, Mike Mammon, unions, Dr. Thomas H. Coleman, doctors, Dr. Charles Brown, dentists, Vince Jurkowski, civic organizations, Jack Kiehart, volunteer firemen and ambulance squads, Don Perry, banks, Bob McDonnell, merchants, and Ruth Koscil, youth organizations.

Two geographical chairmen included Cliff Reynolds, Clifford Greenfield, and Jim McCusker, Forest City.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Hard traction splints (adult and pediatric), $380; and portable suction, $395.

Kickoff slated

After that, meeting plans were initiated. Kickoff of the drive was scheduled for March 15 and was held at Carbondale City Hall, where a large thermometer adorned the lobby indicating how the drive was progressing.

The fundraising drive received an immediate boost when Paul Helt, the president of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club, announced at a Wednesday night meeting of the Mobile II committee that the club would purchase and donate the four-wheel drive vehicle.

In addition, it was reported that Emergency Medical Services would put up $5,000 towards the advanced life support equipment.

Public support was growing.

Clubs, organizations, and individuals were planning bake sales, raffles, and car washes to help raise the needed funds. The thermometer in the lobby began rising by leaps and bounds.

A Mobile II fund drive account had been started at the Liberty Discount and Savings Bank in Carbondale and was being monitored under the watchful eyes of Bill Kaufman.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Hard traction splints (adult and pediatric), $380; and portable suction, $395.

Kickoff slated

After that, meeting plans were initiated. Kickoff of the drive was scheduled for March 15 and was held at Carbondale City Hall, where a large thermometer adorned the lobby indicating how the drive was progressing.

The fundraising drive received an immediate boost when Paul Helt, the president of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club, announced at a Wednesday night meeting of the Mobile II committee that the club would purchase and donate the four-wheel drive vehicle.

In addition, it was reported that Emergency Medical Services would put up $5,000 towards the advanced life support equipment.

Public support was growing.

Clubs, organizations, and individuals were planning bake sales, raffles, and car washes to help raise the needed funds. The thermometer in the lobby began rising by leaps and bounds.

A Mobile II fund drive account had been started at the Liberty Discount and Savings Bank in Carbondale and was being monitored under the watchful eyes of Bill Kaufman.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Hard traction splints (adult and pediatric), $380; and portable suction, $395.

Kickoff slated

After that, meeting plans were initiated. Kickoff of the drive was scheduled for March 15 and was held at Carbondale City Hall, where a large thermometer adorned the lobby indicating how the drive was progressing.

The fundraising drive received an immediate boost when Paul Helt, the president of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club, announced at a Wednesday night meeting of the Mobile II committee that the club would purchase and donate the four-wheel drive vehicle.

In addition, it was reported that Emergency Medical Services would put up $5,000 towards the advanced life support equipment.

Public support was growing.

Clubs, organizations, and individuals were planning bake sales, raffles, and car washes to help raise the needed funds. The thermometer in the lobby began rising by leaps and bounds.

A Mobile II fund drive account had been started at the Liberty Discount and Savings Bank in Carbondale and was being monitored under the watchful eyes of Bill Kaufman.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Hard traction splints (adult and pediatric), $380; and portable suction, $395.

Kickoff slated

After that, meeting plans were initiated. Kickoff of the drive was scheduled for March 15 and was held at Carbondale City Hall, where a large thermometer adorned the lobby indicating how the drive was progressing.

The fundraising drive received an immediate boost when Paul Helt, the president of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club, announced at a Wednesday night meeting of the Mobile II committee that the club would purchase and donate the four-wheel drive vehicle.

In addition, it was reported that Emergency Medical Services would put up $5,000 towards the advanced life support equipment.

Public support was growing.

Clubs, organizations, and individuals were planning bake sales, raffles, and car washes to help raise the needed funds. The thermometer in the lobby began rising by leaps and bounds.

A Mobile II fund drive account had been started at the Liberty Discount and Savings Bank in Carbondale and was being monitored under the watchful eyes of Bill Kaufman.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Hard traction splints (adult and pediatric), $380; and portable suction, $395.

Kickoff slated

After that, meeting plans were initiated. Kickoff of the drive was scheduled for March 15 and was held at Carbondale City Hall, where a large thermometer adorned the lobby indicating how the drive was progressing.

The fundraising drive received an immediate boost when Paul Helt, the president of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club, announced at a Wednesday night meeting of the Mobile II committee that the club would purchase and donate the four-wheel drive vehicle.

In addition, it was reported that Emergency Medical Services would put up $5,000 towards the advanced life support equipment.

Public support was growing.

Clubs, organizations, and individuals were planning bake sales, raffles, and car washes to help raise the needed funds. The thermometer in the lobby began rising by leaps and bounds.

A Mobile II fund drive account had been started at the Liberty Discount and Savings Bank in Carbondale and was being monitored under the watchful eyes of Bill Kaufman.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Hard traction splints (adult and pediatric), $380; and portable suction, $395.

Kickoff slated

After that, meeting plans were initiated. Kickoff of the drive was scheduled for March 15 and was held at Carbondale City Hall, where a large thermometer adorned the lobby indicating how the drive was progressing.

The fundraising drive received an immediate boost when Paul Helt, the president of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club, announced at a Wednesday night meeting of the Mobile II committee that the club would purchase and donate the four-wheel drive vehicle.

In addition, it was reported that Emergency Medical Services would put up $5,000 towards the advanced life support equipment.

Public support was growing.

Clubs, organizations, and individuals were planning bake sales, raffles, and car washes to help raise the needed funds. The thermometer in the lobby began rising by leaps and bounds.

A Mobile II fund drive account had been started at the Liberty Discount and Savings Bank in Carbondale and was being monitored under the watchful eyes of Bill Kaufman.

Committee meetings were scheduled every Wednesday night during the course of the drive.

"We were holding meetings, not just in Carbondale, but in various spots in the upstate," O'Rourke explained.

"This was the best way, we felt, because the people in those towns could come to the meetings, give their input, and see what was going on."

Meetings during the course of the drive were held in Blakely, Archbald, Mayfield, Jermy, Forest City, and Clifford, the area that the new unit would cover.

O'Rourke pointed out, they did show that a lot of hard work would be needed to raise enough money to make Mobile II a reality.

The cost of the new vehicle alone was $12,000 without any features added.

Advanced life support equipment consisting of Pioneer telemetry and life packs ran around $15,500. Vehicle alterations were projected at $3,500. These alterations would include lights, siren, and heavy duty suspension.

Additional costs listed on the sheet included mast suits (adult and pediatric), $835; Reeves stretcher, $130; doppler, $345;

Why not join the growing list of readers who know that there is a lot of local news in the Carbondale MIRROR?